

Jokowi Unsuccessfully Resolves Past Human Rights Violations?

[Antonius Herujiyanto AH11_191018]

The Chairwoman of the Commission for Missing Persons and Victims of Violence or KontraS, Yati Indriyani, has strongly criticized President Jokowi's last four year administration.

Mentioning that her evaluation on Jokowi's performance was to measure his consistent words in the sense of witnessing his promise during the 2014 presidential campaign and his actual actions on his promise to resolve past human rights violations in the country.

During her press conference held on Friday (19 October), she talked about the 17 human rights programmes on his Nawacita commitment list. She said that Jokowi had failed to deal with 6 (six) of them while the other 11 were not completely handled.

She concluded, therefore, that in dealing with human rights, Jokowi had not appropriately committed to his promise during his last four year administration. According to her, the most obvious promise that Jokowi has completely failed is in dealing with the past gross human rights violations in the country. She also suspected that his failure was due to the facts that those alleged actors of the violations were assigned by Jokowi to administer many different important posts in his administration.

To her the cases could not be handled through political compromising by providing those actors with high posts.
